

GATE welcomes Nobel peace prize nominee Dr. Quratulain Bakhteari

...one of the most inspiring women in South Asia today

Roeper Students, Teachers and Parents, This is a wonderful opportunity to meet a social entrepreneur...who has used leadership, creativity and innovation to tackle major social issues... especially those affecting youth. Come and share her amazing life story about how one individual can bring about positive change, impacting millions - now and for generations to come.

For over 30 years, her pioneering work has mobilized people for education, sanitation, women empowerment and professional development.

Asoka and Skoll foundations have awarded her trailblazing, innovative work.

<http://www.skollfoundation.org/entrepreneur/quratul-ain-bakhteari/>

<https://www.ashoka.org/fellow/qurat-ul-ain-bakhtiari>

WHEN: OCTOBER 27, 2013
2PM - 4PM

WHERE: FARMINGTON HILLS
LIBRARY
32737 W 12 MILE ROAD

PLEASE RSVP BY OCT 22
NINA ASMI (ROEPER PARENT),
248 396 6372

NINAONLINE@GMAIL.COM

Just a few of her community building accomplishments...

- Established 2,000 girls' primary schools in rural Baluchistan, enrolling 200,000 girls — a record.
- IDSP's Founding Director, IDSP fellows, half of them women, implemented and managed large scale development projects including launching a university of community development.
- Trustee for Network of Home-based Workers of South Asian.
- Set up 50 community learning centers for out of school youth .
- Established centers to provide food, education and psychosocial support for street Children.

GATE is a non profit organization focused on creating awareness through education. Our sessions are free.

She would love to answer any questions from our Roeper Community

Snacks Included!